ST. LOUIS DOWNS
BRAVES IN LONG
GAME SATURDAY

saved the day with sparkling fielding. In the first of the twelfth inning Rosario got a hit after Bun Hee had made a pretty play on Anahu. O'Sullivan singled, but Gomes flew out to Kink Tan and the last chance was gone.

You Bun Triples
Nelson retired Kuriaki and Kink Tan in the twelfth and it looked like a longer game, but Lam Wing hit a hot one which Anahu let go through his hands, and You Bun came to the plate and earned the laurel wreath by hitting for a triple out O'Sullivan's way, and the old ball game was over. It was a great battle, and Nelson and Stewart deserve credit for the showing made. It would be hard to pick a star from the St. Louis lineup. Kuriaki caught a great game; You Bun and Haneberg performed in great style, while the list of St. Louis stars is but a list of the players. Anahu, Lee, Mara, Rosario and Ornelas staged a number of good plays, and O'Sullivan performed well with the bludgeon.

Asahis Win
In the first game of the day the Asahis nosed out the rejuvenated Healanis in a fast game, which was robbed of being a feature by the last meles of the day. Right off the bat the Healanis put one across when Diehl singled and went around on two errors. They scored another in the fourth on hits by Hughes, McIlree and Magoon, and landed the third run of the day when Victor doubled and came home on an infield out and an error.

The Asahis did not score a run off "Sleepy" Baldwin, who was on the mound, until the fourth inning, when a walk, a sacrifice and hits by Nushida and Yasunaga gave the little players two runs.

"Boy Wonders" Work
Nushida worked for the first five innings and allowed all the runs that were made during the game. Before he had departed, however, the Japanese youngsters had scored two runs on a walk, an error, Nushida's second hit and a sacrifice fly. Hughes pulled off a great one-handed catch, which was a feature.

McTighe singled in the sixth, but was left on base when Maesake entered the box, and in the next inning only three men were at bat. Hughes doubled in the seventh, but was caught out on a great play by Zenimura. The Asahis failed to hit Baldwin in the later innings and the game went into the last of the ninth with a one run lead. McTighe flew out, and then McIlree came through with a pretty single, but Miyahara took care of the next two men and the Healanis had dropped another game, but they showed a big improvement, and entirely satisfied the fans that they will be in the running from now on. Zenimura played a spectacular game for the Asahis, and Miyahara handled all of his chances with ease.

Ladd lingers the team up in great shape, and McTighe played a pretty game at third. The Healanis worked together well, and prospects are bright for a good team. The addition of Baldwin is a big help to the team, and the southpaw pitched a good game in his first Pacific League trial.

MAUI HANDICAP TENNIS
DOUBLES NOW POSTPONED

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
WAILUKU, Maui, June 3.—The Maui handicap tennis doubles tournament, which was to have begun early this month, has been postponed until July and the entries, which were to have closed today, will close instead on July 1. The reason for the change in date is that the tournament would interfere more or less with the golf practice in June, and besides it is desired that the contest serve as a preliminary to the Harvest Home tournament, which is held in August.

SAINTS HAMMER BALL
HARD FOR 21 REAL HITS

The Chinese hammered the pitcher for 12 hits which gave them the victory by a score of 6 to 4.

Ah Pui pitched for the Chinese and allowed 11 hits. The Japanese team should take a few lessons from the Asahis and learn to play together more. The success of the little Japanese team has demonstrated that team work counts in the long run. Leong at second for the Chinese played a good game as did Komeya for the Japanese.

"JACK" SPRECKELS SUED
BY HIS FORMER WIFE

Mrs. Edith Marie Huntington Wakefield, whose marriage to Frank W. Wakefield, a wealthy New Yorker, set California as well as Honolulu agog two years ago, is now suing her former husband, "Jack" Spreckels, for $10,300. When the suit was filed, according to San Francisco papers, an attachment, following the filing of the action, was issued against the Pacific avenue home of the defendant. The suit is based upon alleged failure of Spreckels to pay his wife alimony for the support of herself and their three children under a property settlement effected prior to the divorce suit filed by the former Mrs. Spreckels.

Mrs. Wakefield, then Mrs. Spreckels, came to Honolulu and figured first in a scene with the quarantine authorities, who made her put a pet dog in quarantine. Her marriage to Wakefield took place here, the issuance of the license being delayed by the marriage license clerk until satisfactory proof of the final decree divorce from Jack Spreckels was secured by cable from California.

STAR-BULLETIN
DISPLAYS FLAGS OF THE ALLIES

Flags of the Allies in the present war are now on display above the Star-Bulletin building and are attracting much attention. Visitors are displayed, including those of fighting overseas countries.

The Star-Bulletin was unable to secure flags of Serbia, Montenegro or Rumania. The colors displayed are those of the United States, Great Britain, France, Russia, Italy, Japan, China, Portugal, Belgium, Scotland, Ireland, New Zealand, Australia and Canada.

SLEW TO Avenge
LOSS OF HIS HOME
REVEALS THE CRIME

WAILUKU, June 3.—Sam Kaahui has confessed to murdering Noah Kaaka. According to the Weekly Times of Wailuku, the defendant, who is 40 years old, instead of 36 as at first reported, has told the whole story to Sheriff Crowell of Maui. Kaaka, who was burned to death in his home, was 72 years of age. Briefly, the confession is that Kaahui was frantic with anger when he saw Kaaka tilling land of which Kaahui had been deprived by law after the latter had worked it for years. He went to Kaaka's room at night, forced and finally choked his adversary to death. Kaahui has only one arm, but it has grown doubly strong by lack of the other. When Kaahui had killed Kaaka he set fire to the bed with a coal oil lamp and later heaped brush under the house. Then he went home to bed. Kaahui admits everything, according to the Wailuku paper, and has gone over the scene of the crime with the authorities to corroborate his confession. He has no civil rights, having been convicted of assault and battery several years ago. The coroner's jury has already attributed Kaaka's death to Kaahui. The latter says that after the plantation took his only home and gave it to Kaaka he had only one wish and now that is appeased.

KANEAKUA WINS
FIGHT ON KAUAI

The result of the recent primary election on Kauai strengthened the Republican party, says word from the Garden Island.

Unusual interest was taken in the primary because of the strong opposition against J. Mahiel Kaneakua for the county clerkship. Kaneakua had served the county of Kauai faithfully for eleven years and a half and at no time prior to this election was he opposed. Arranged against him were Representative James K. Kula of Koloa, and K. C. Ahana of Lihue, on the Republican ticket and Henry W. Waiua, a non-partisan candidate.

Ten days before election the campaign began in earnest. Meetings were held at Wainiha, Hanalei, Hanapepe, Makawili, Waimea and Kekeha. Everywhere Kaneakua was well received. At his home precinct, to wit, Kawaihewa, he was received with enthusiasm. He carried this precinct by a large majority over his opponents.

CONSUL FORSTER'S SON
REPORTED MISSING ON WEST FRONT, IN FRANCE

Friends here of R. G. E. Forster, British consul-general at Kobe, have been grieved to learn that his son, 2nd Lieutenant R. L. F. Forster, is reported missing on the French front. Young Forster, who left Sandhurst, the English military school, only last year, went to France with his regiment last fall and on May 3 was among those missing after a hard fight. A telegram from the war office to the faming in Kobe brought the news, which is reprinted in Japanese papers. The Forsters have many friends in the islands.

PASTOR SOUNDS CALL FOR TRUE AMERICANISM

"Our Country in the Field of Honor" was the title of an inspiring sermon delivered last night at St. Clement's church by Rev. Leland H. Tracy, vicar. The speaker sounded the call for clear-cut Americanism, laying before his hearers a glimpse of their opportunity for service in this war. The country has no time for hyphenates, he said. This world struggle can end only in the abandonment of militarism and the emancipation of the German people. America should rejoice to spend herself in such a cause.

WITH OUR VISITORS

Mrs. George L. Rogers was hostess Saturday night at the Plesanton hotel at a delightful dinner party. The table was set for eight and the guests were Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Hooper, R. S. Danforth, Miss Eleanor Danforth, James O'G., Miss M. Danforth, and Mrs. Frederic Danforth. The table was made attractive by gold-embossed place cards with red baby ribbon tied on the corner and with red African asters in a low Japanese basket. Candelsticks with red shades lighted the scene.
